On The Field Of Honor,

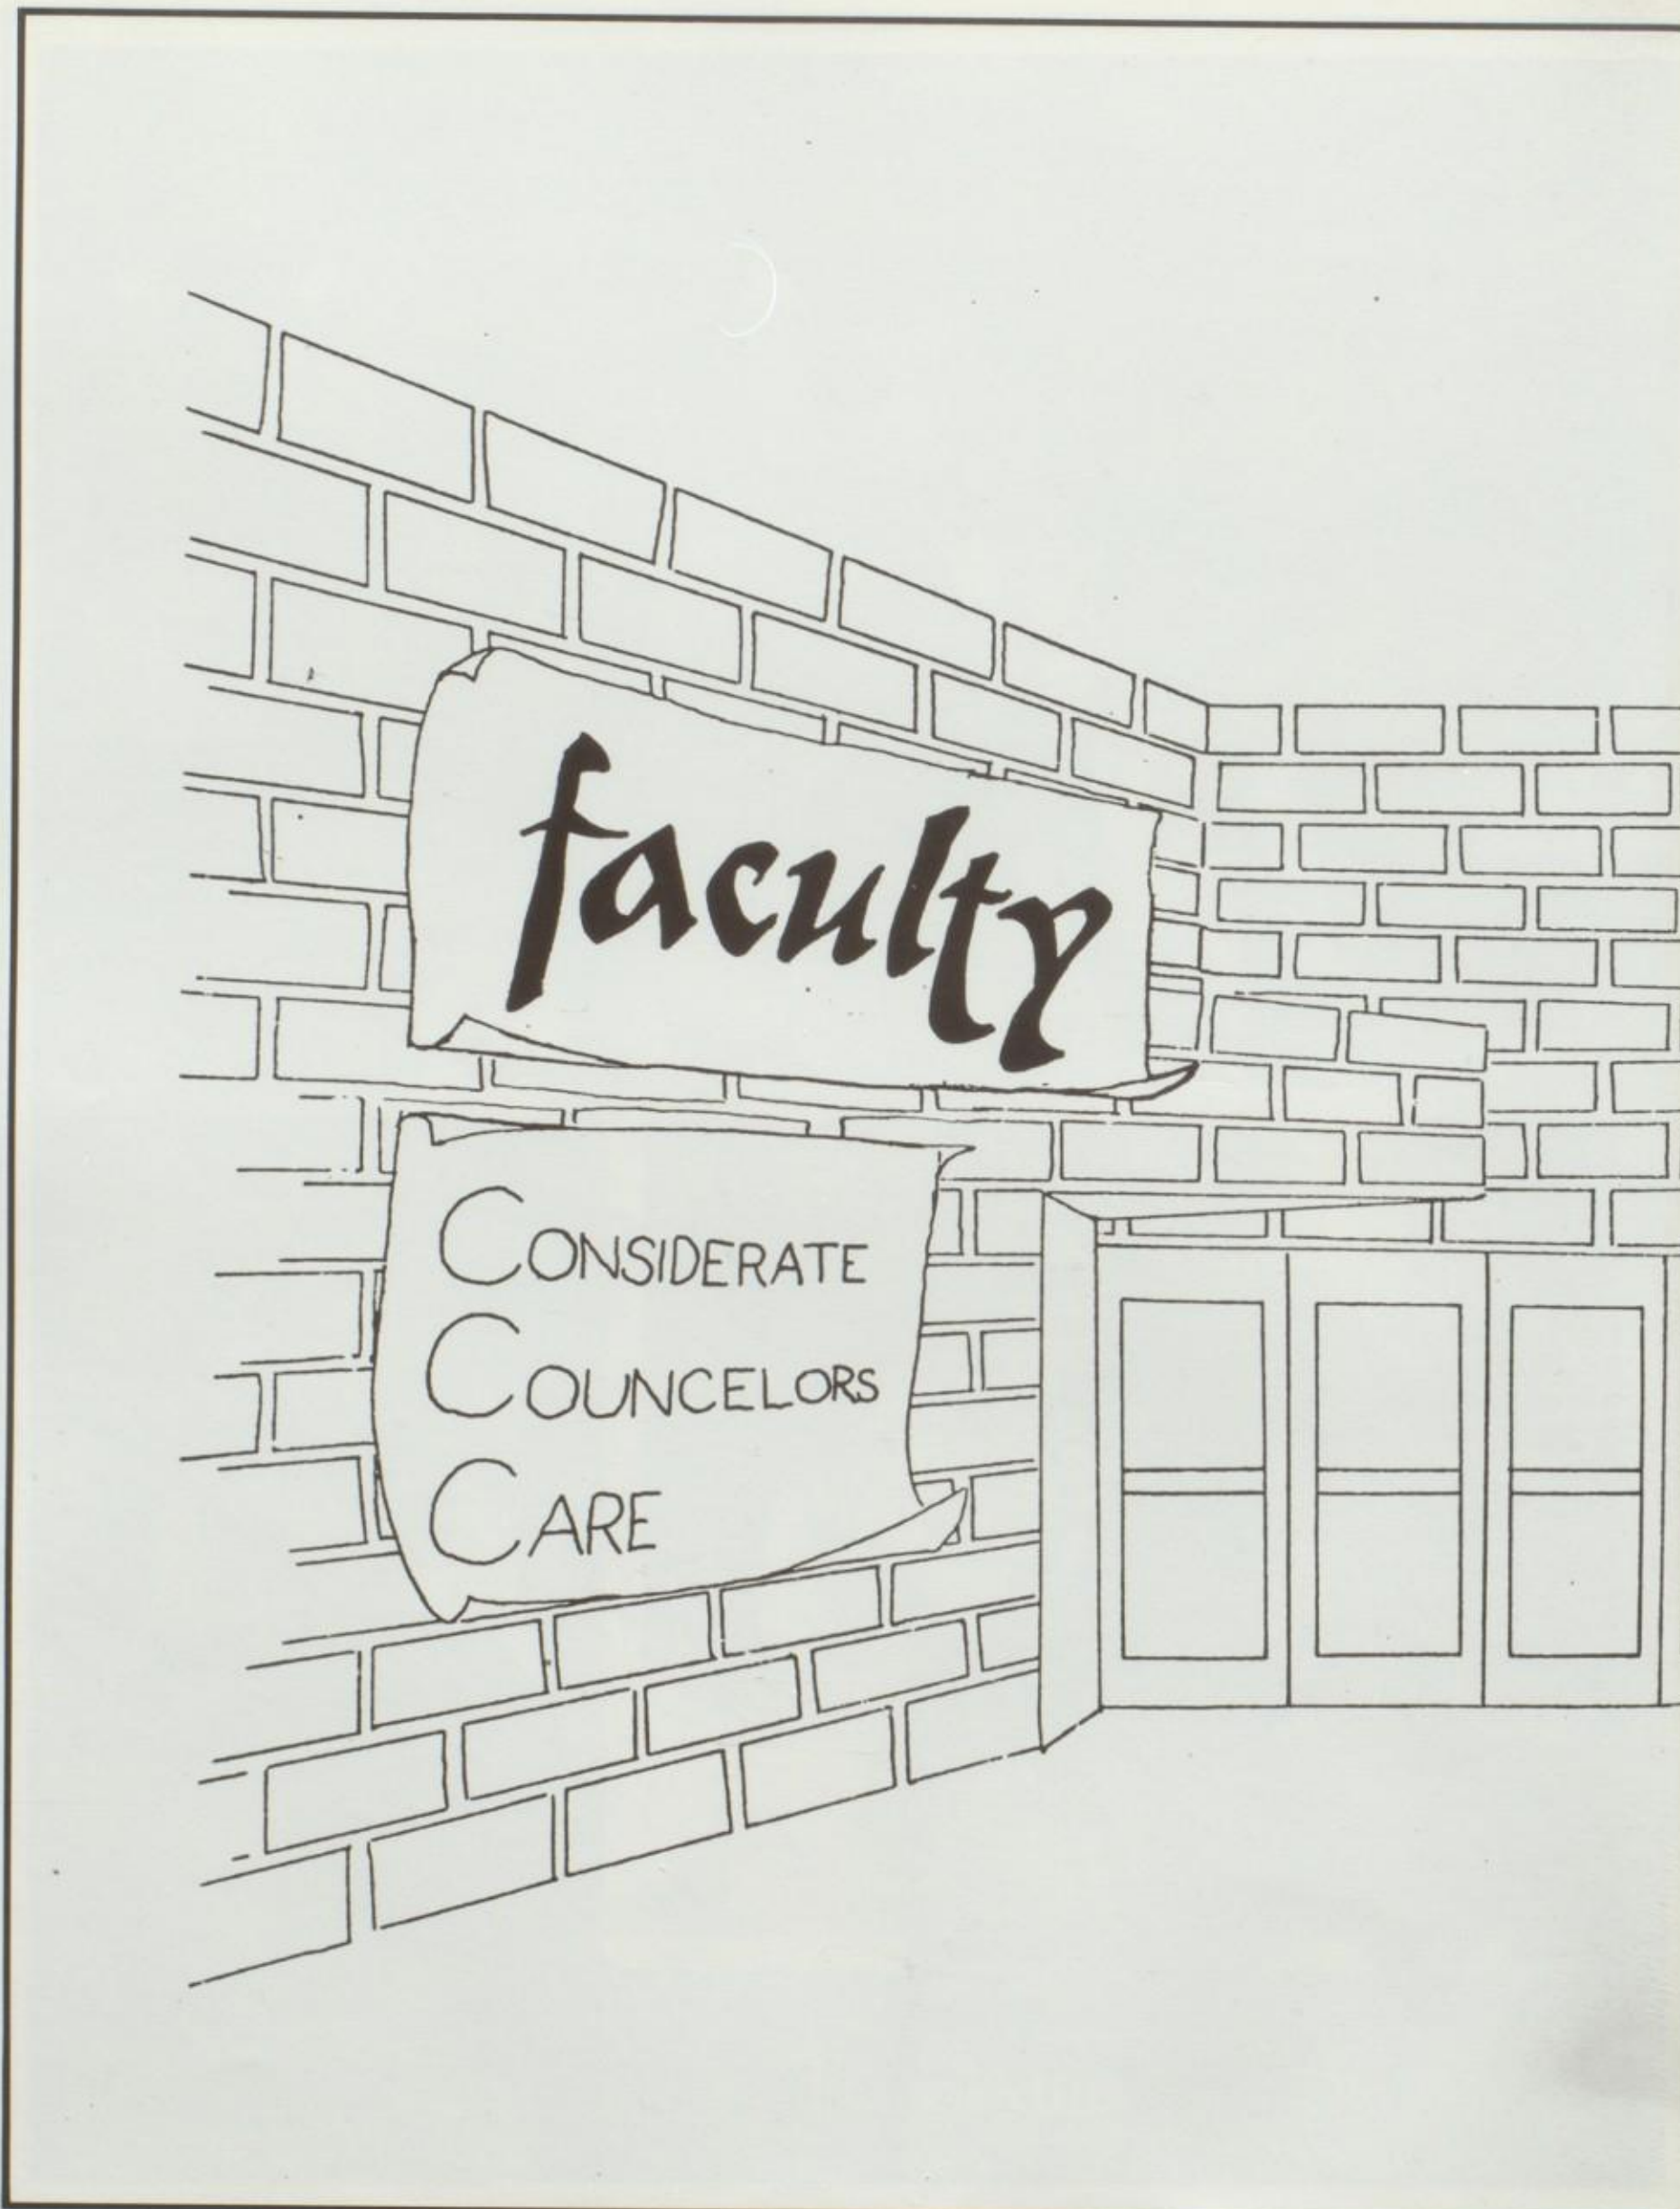

By Reaching Out . . .

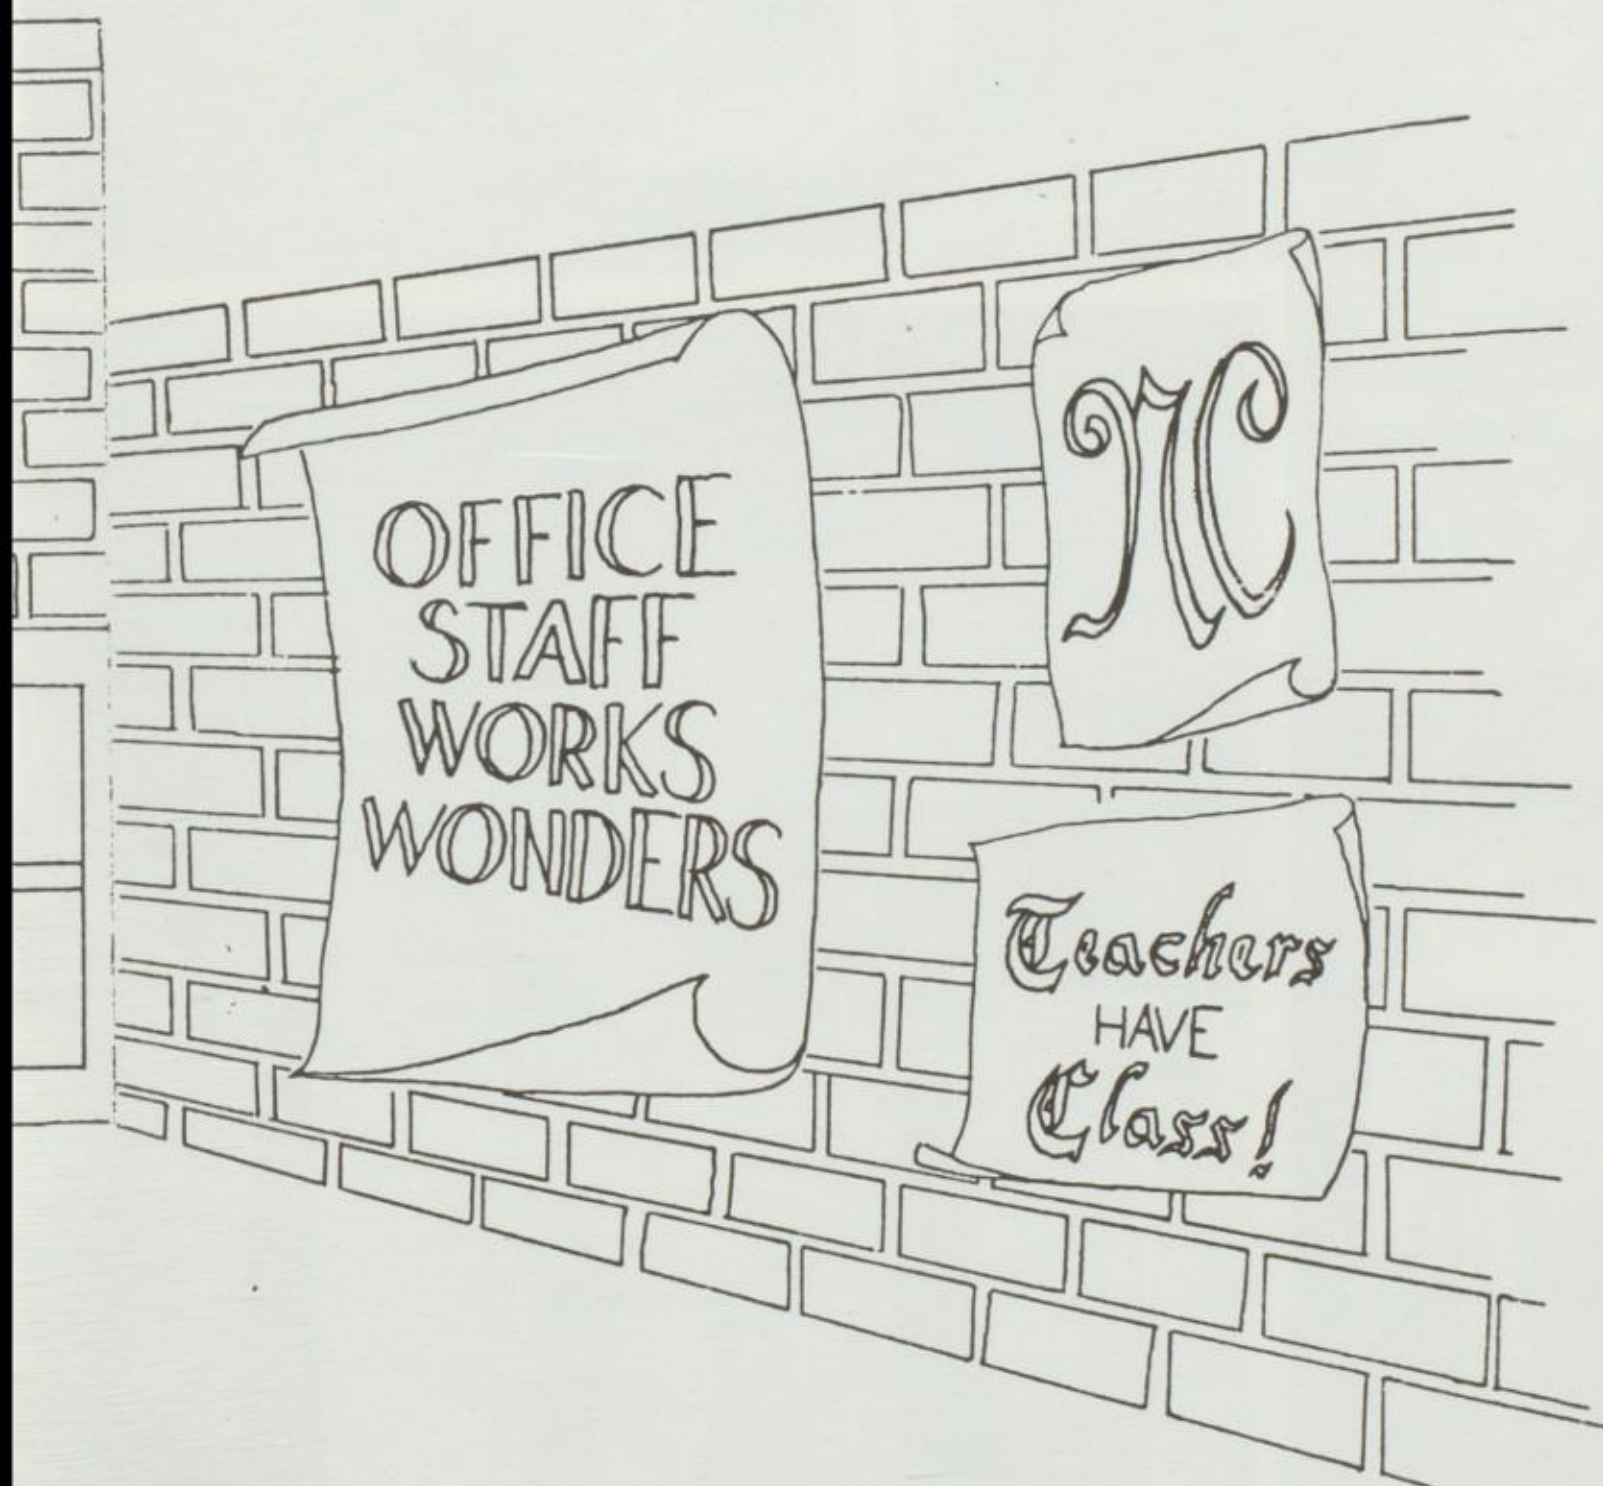

. . . To Challenge the Future

A hand-drawn illustration of a brick wall. Two signs are attached to the wall. The top sign is a rectangular piece of paper with the word 'faculty' written in a large, bold, cursive font. The bottom sign is a larger, irregular piece of paper with the words 'CONSIDERATE', 'COUNCELORS', and 'CARE' written in a simple, blocky, uppercase font, one on each line. To the right of the signs, there is a set of three double doors, each with a small rectangular window at the top. The entire illustration is enclosed in a simple rectangular border.

CONSIDERATE
COUNCELORS
CARE

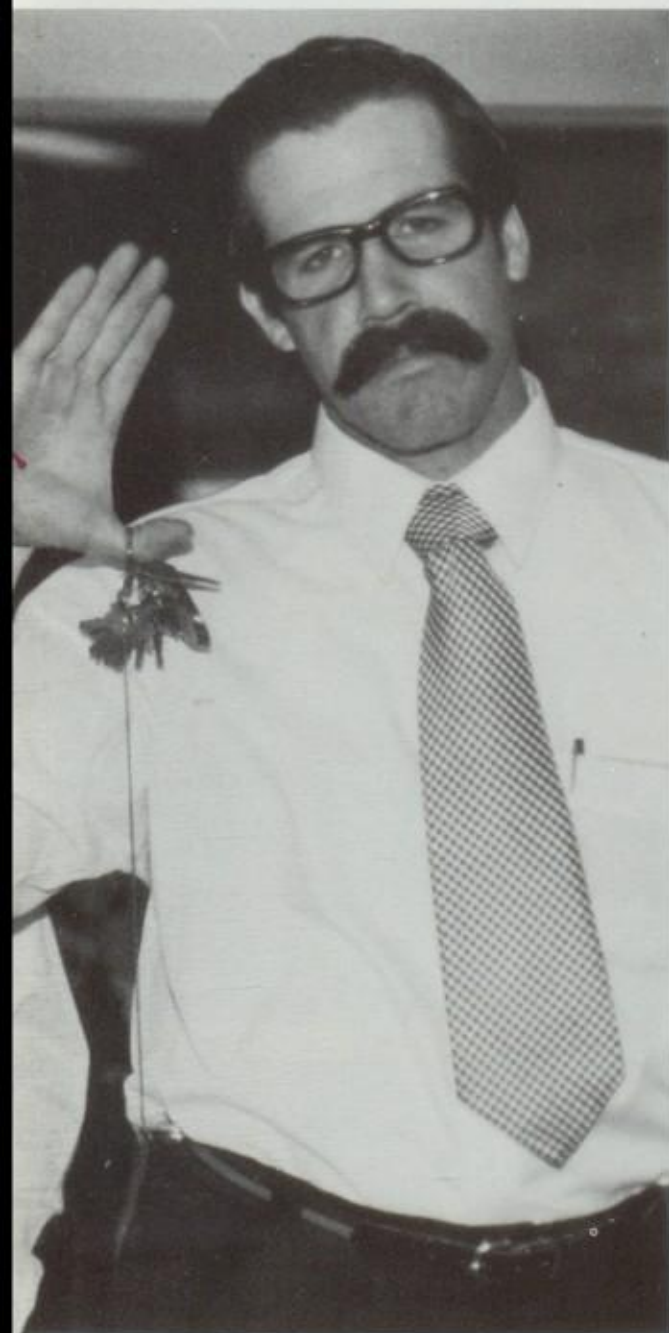

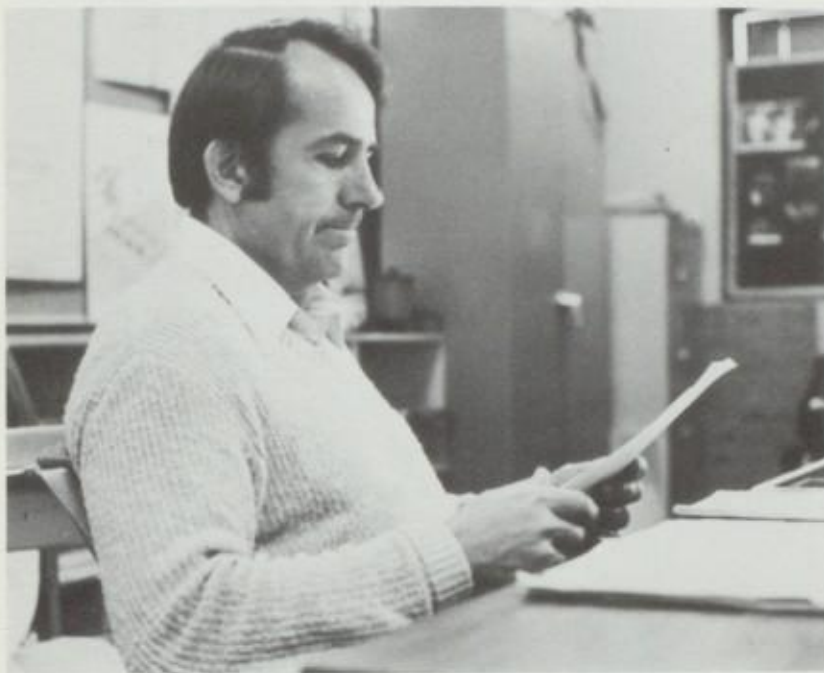

Our instructors at North Central come in many forms. Of course, there are the teachers of English, math, social studies, science, and the many other courses. However, we learn just as much at times from other sources.

Without the counselors, the administration and the office staff, the school would not run smoothly. We also learn much from the advisers and coaches of the various organizations and teams around school. For instance, drama students learn to express themselves in new ways. In sports, the athletes get a chance to compete, have fun and learn about themselves and others.

For all this, we owe thanks to all those who make up the staff of North Central High School.

N.C.'S TRIBAL ELDERS

Opposite Page: Top: "What 'type' of mischief are you up to now, Mrs. Russell?" Far Left: Mr. "M" stands high, wide and . . . Well, two out of three isn't bad!"

THE CHIEFS:

Our leaders guide the tribe upward

Assistant Principal Jon Bentz

Assistant Principal Bob Howard

Principal Don Cobb

"Honesty, cooperation and a positive outlook are redeeming qualities. I try to show warmth and concern to those I come in contact with hoping they will do likewise in their personal contacts. I am honest with myself and therefore with everyone else. I try to be a good influence on others.

"These qualities I believe we should all display. I hope students see them in me!"

Jon Bentz

"I would hope that as principal I have helped to inspire leadership, pride, dignity and an enthusiasm to strive for excellence. Here at North Central these qualities are reflected each day by our outstanding staff and student body.

"I would hope to be remembered as a person who enjoyed his work, strived to meet the needs of the people he served, and cared about all with whom he came in contact."

Don Cobb

"I will hope that in my efforts to be fair and just in working with members of North Central High School that I will in turn have been judged fairly."

Bob Howard

BEHIND THE SCENES:

The people who keep N.C. running smoothly

The counselors provide a wide variety of services to students during their four years at North Central. They include providing personal, social, academic, and career counseling; transcript evaluation; administering and interpreting a variety of tests; college and vocational counseling; assisting in class registration; and assisting in implementing a four-year education plan. All students are urged to utilize our Career Center and update their own "Career Planning Folder."

If the librarian leaves any mark on students at North Central, it may be remembered as painful. The librarian offers no answers, only questions and possible clues to assist students in reaching their own conclusions. The librarian selects the library material to reflect the broadest array of views and information. The potential for debate and controversy makes the library the "hottest spot" in the school. All of the librarian's efforts are to prepare independent thinkers.

LANGUAGE ARTS: Words to live by

Through the teaching of literature, grammar, composition and foreign languages, it is the goal of the Language Arts Department to sensitively teach young people to think critically; to communicate effectively — in verbal, non-verbal and written modes — through a mastery of language; and to better understand themselves, their relationships with others and their environment, and their world heritage.

SCIENCE: Finding a place in nature's plan

"Present day society is based on advances made in science. People today depend upon the activities of scientists for a better way of life."

"Science education helps students to understand their surroundings, their place in these surroundings, and how to cope with various phenomena. One of the ways in which students learn is through first-hand science experiences. Observation, experimentation, and participation in science are keys to the growth of appreciation for our world and our universe."

— Dan Olson

SOCIAL STUDIES: Learning to cope in the modern world

"The basic goal of North Central's Social Studies Department is to prepare our students to be humane, rational, participating citizens in a world that is becoming increasingly interdependent. Social studies education provides the only structured school or community institution to prepare young people for citizenship. If the school's focus is to have any lasting effect on student's behavior, other institutions like the family and business must have a shared concern for the enhancement of human dignity and civic education."

— Jerry Hopkins

MATH

really count*

We are in the midst of an information revolution. We can communicate with any place in the world almost instantaneously by wire, radio, satellite, or light waves. More messages can be sent over longer distances more economically than ever before. Obtaining the correct knowledge at the right time can save money, time, lives and effort. The spoken and written word is only part of this revolution. Mathematics is a form of communication. The transmission of where, how far, when and how much is very much a function of mathematics. The Mathematics Department of North Central High School is dedicated to the goal of preparing our students to participate in this revolution. We know that the graduates of North Central will be playing a vital part in this endeavor. It is our job to see that they are prepared to meet these challenges.

HOME AND FAMILY LIFE:

Lessons in day-to-day living

It is the goal of every home and family life teacher at N.C. to provide an opportunity for students to learn and grow in the qualities that make for a positive and energetic life. Subjects taught include human relations, child development, independent living, foods and nutrition, sewing and money management. Each of these areas develops skills in decision-making, goal-setting, specific training and instructions and build self-confidence in the areas of living life.

It is the philosophy of the home and family life teachers that inter-relations with people is the most important skill students can have in building the ability to communicate, experience a high self-esteem and leave the high school experience better able to cope with the experiences life offers.

Each teacher is concerned about their students becoming more whole individuals through the discoveries made in the classroom.

BUSINESS EDUCATION: Students learn to keep their books

Students who will be entering the work force after high school need to gain certain business skills that will enable them to be efficient on the job and to be promotable. Because we are now entering the age of computers and computer technology, nearly everyone, including executives, managers, technicians, office clerks, and secretaries will need keyboarding skills which students can learn in the Business Department. At N.C. we are fortunate to have up-to-date equipment which gives our students hands-on experience. It is our goal to adequately prepare students with those business skills needed for their future vocations.

LEARNING SUPPORT CENTER:

Searching for a spot in the mainstream

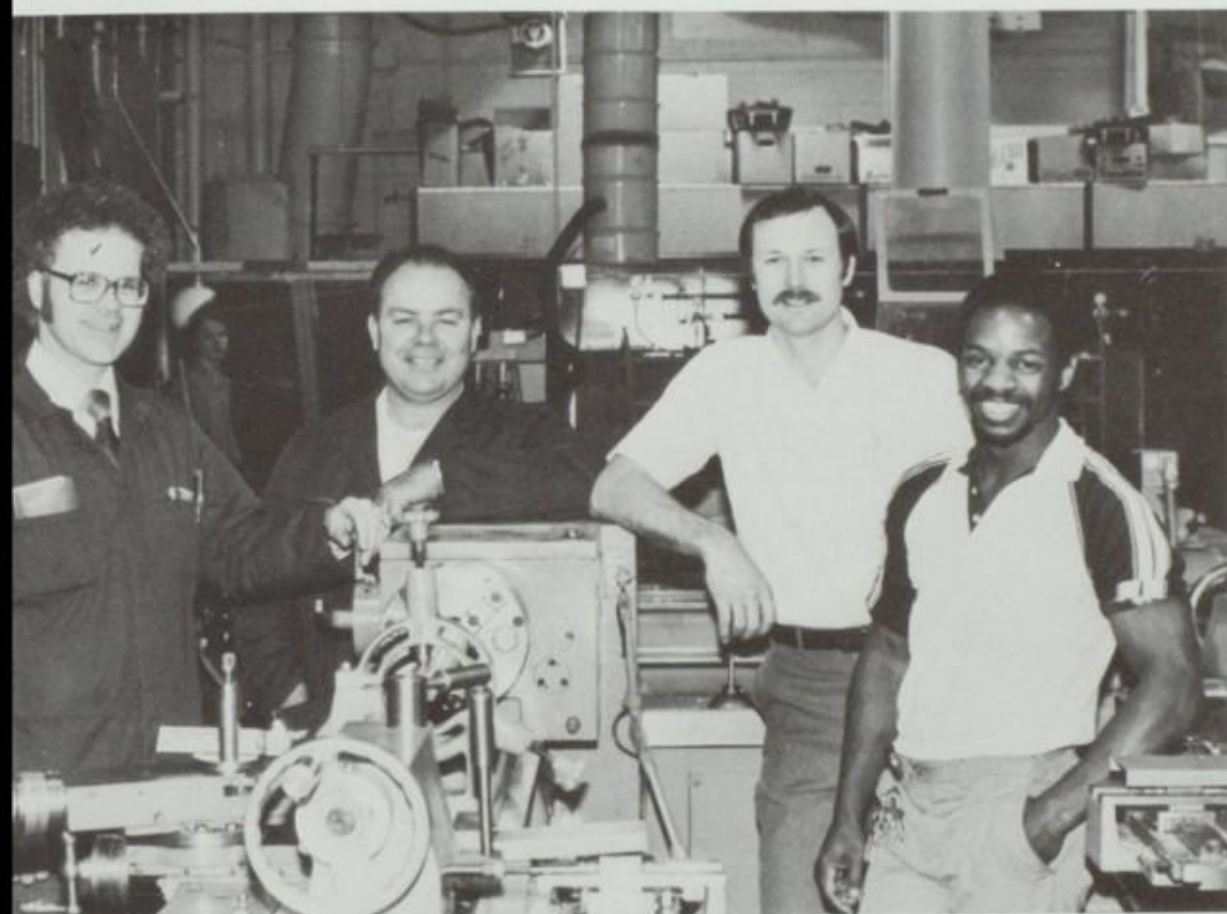

Preparing students for productive and independent adult life is one of the goals of the educational system. The objective of the Learning Support Center is to arrange for opportunities and services that will enable a student to enjoy successful adult living. Success and quality of life can be measured in terms of productivity, independence and integration into the community.

INDUSTRIAL ARTS:

*Build, draft, tune, wire, weld,

The impression an Industrial Arts teacher makes on a student may be very subtle at the time, but it's the long term effect that makes the difference. Work attitudes, including pride in yourself and work you do for others, will carry on with those individuals the rest of their lives.

The objective of Traffic Safety at N. C. is to provide students, as a part of the comprehensive high school program, with the basic skills and knowledge to cope with traffic situations in the Spokane area or other areas of the country.

ART/MUSIC: Skills in the fine arts enrich life's meaning

In art classes the goal is to give students some understanding of the art that man considers important. The art teachers try to instill in their students an appreciation for their own efforts, as well as the efforts of others. Studying art hopefully helps students to begin developing good taste in selecting the things with which they surround themselves.

Picture a basketball game with no band or a football half-time with nothing on the field. Musicals would be pretty bland with nothing to accompany the singers and fill in the "dead" time. Music has so many uses at North Central. It is a good way for students to express their individuality, get involved in school activities, and most importantly, to SHOW OFF!

The goal of the physical education teachers is to work toward getting students involved in physical education activities and to give all students, regardless of their athletic ability, an equal chance to experience success.

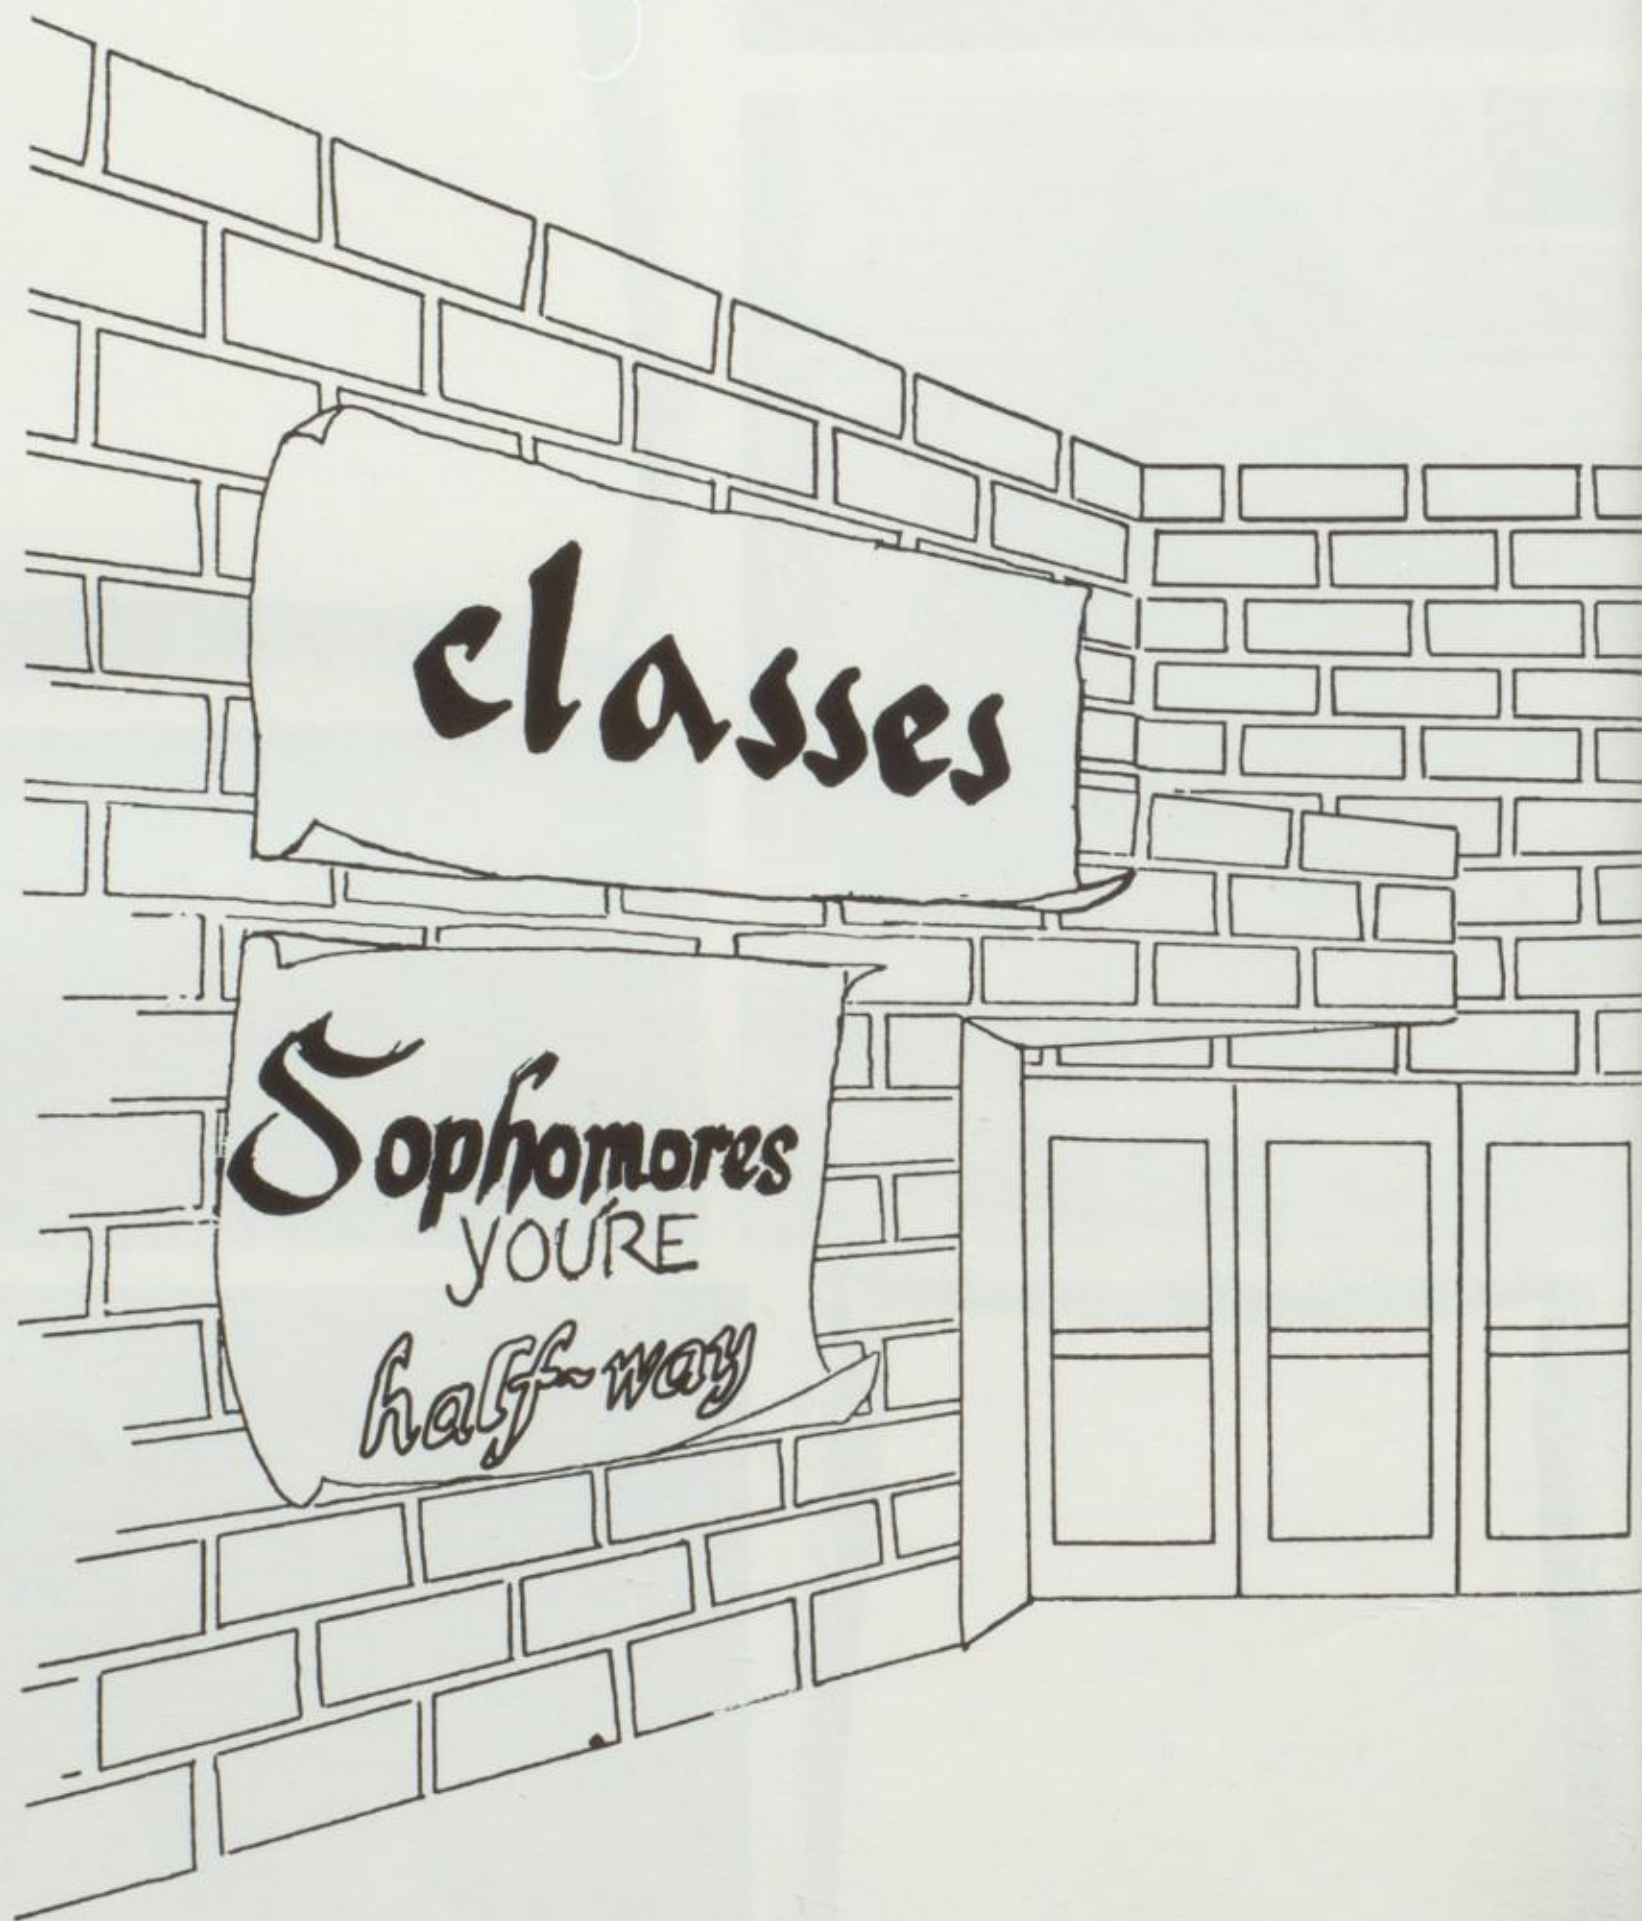

The physical education curriculum for 1983-84 stressed team activities for ninth grade students and life-time sports for tenth graders. The teachers feel that these types of activities will help students, both boys and girls, to mature socially and physically.

Above: Individual class spirit was kept alive throughout the year during the special class competitions at the pep cons. Right: One of the most important people in the life of a student is his/her counselor. This year's class counselors were Mr. Brown, freshmen; Mrs. Betts, sophomores; and Mrs. Erickson, juniors.

The high school years are the most treasured in a person's life. It is a time for growing, living and learning.

The experiences begin as a freshman. A new school, new people, new books and a new atmosphere make the first day tense and exciting. As time wears on, school becomes a struggle. Classes become harder and the once exciting halls seem like long and narrow concrete corridors; mocking faces stare from all corners of the room. During the night, dreams are filled with hopes of being an upperclassman and shedding the "dumb frosh" label. Finally, the year is done and memories are only of the good times.

As a sophomore you look ahead to the coming year with great anticipation. The classes you choose are more advanced with a greater range of subjects. Planning for your life begins. You reach the new school year one step closer to that golden door of goals. Relationships with others grow stronger with experience. A more comfortable atmosphere forms around you at school. You become more of a "part" of it all. Your actions and motions become more confident with experience. And that once uneasy, unsure stumble through the halls becomes a conservative, mellow stride. Yet still there is that need to move ahead. You want more. The anticipation for the coming year begins to build. You finish the year with a burning rush to escape the "underclassman" label.

You reach your junior year with a whole new wardrobe, a bit more fashionable than the one you began your journey with, and with a whole new outlook on school and on life in general. An affectionate smile graces your face as you enter the school doors. You feel a warming feeling as you greet your old friends. It is good to be back. Yet this sentimental spirit dies quickly with the responsibilities of classes and hard work. It's time to settle down and get serious. The grind begins pumping day after day. That conservative stride you mastered as a sophomore has now turned into a slow, cool strut. Soon that yearn for more creeps back up on you. It turns inside making you want it all. You'll reach that goal — that golden door — no matter what it takes.

The Class of '87

*"Being a freshman
at N.C.
means . . ."*

"We're the rowdiest bunch of head-bangers and hellraisers in all of Spokane."

"Being picked on by being called a 'typical frosh' and a 'dumb frosh.' Actually we are practically more smarter than most seniors."

"Three more great years of high school and three more years of looking at the great guys!"

"We're the biggest group of partiers in Spokane."

"Preparing for future classes, for school sports activities, and for being initiated and stuck in garbage cans."

"Walking through the halls and having upperclassmen scowl at you."

"Trying not to be initiated, a stage you have to go through to become a sophomore."

"Getting the worst of it. All the upperclassmen pick on you. One time a senior put a frosh in a garbage can and made him sing 'Red and Black'."

"It means being able to be yourself . . . It means getting looked down on from the higher grades . . . It means being involved in a great high school . . . It means two more years till we're the top."

"Not being a freshman or sophomore, but almost a senior."

Rachel Walling

"Keeping up with all the information and homework the teachers cram into your head in the last two weeks of the semester because they feel as if they haven't given enough yet."

Sean Hollowell

"The school system must have done something for me because how else did I get this far?"

Tim McAvoy

"Losing your two front teeth!!"

Laurie Olson

"We have to wait till next year to be anyone important."

Stacy Henderson

"Having class!"

Geri Swagel

"Being too embarrassed to stand up at a school con."

Alison Moss

"Total and absolute superiority. It means getting radical and yet still coping with the mass confusion of pointless classes and devastating finals. But one question is puzzling me — how many grams per mole of juniors do we have?"

Brad Belknap

"A crawl over the hump, one more step and then a big jump, learn what you will, the last should be a thrill, but let us be warmed all for the big chill."

N.C. ACTIVITIES:

Bigger and better than ever in '84

Activities are an important part of high school. They are not just for fun, but they are learning experiences too. We learn things like Spirit, Pride and Unity that are just as important to our development as math, English and Science.

There are many different kinds of activities, something for everyone. Whatever we get involved in, there are others with the same interests, so there are many new friends to be made. The image of North Central is a direct result of the number of students who show their S.P.U. for their school by getting involved in activities.

N.C. BAND:

The sounds of excitement!

The band played at all football games and performed at halftime on several occasions during the football seasons. At winter-time they played at all varsity basketball games in the Coliseum. They also competed in many festivals and competitions, including the Northwest Marching Band Competition Oct. 22, the Christmas Concert Dec. 7, Solo and Ensemble Festival Feb. 25, Moscow Jazz Festival Concert March 14, a large group festival March 16-17, and finally, The Awards Night Concert May 30.

The Red Feathers have been a part of North Central tradition for 45 years. The purpose of the unit is to perform at various athletic events and parades, promote school spirit, and serve the school and community.

This year the band and Red Feathers placed 15th in the Northwest Band Competition. This was the first year the Red Feathers performed with pom pons.

The Red Feathers sponsored the Dad-Daughter Dance in November and the Sweetheart Dance in February.

The money raised this year selling football programs was used in purchasing their new sweaters.

"This has been one of the most enthusiastic and talented groups I have worked with," stated Gayle Sander, Red Feather adviser.

PEP CONS:

Time to stand up and get rowdy!

Our pep cons this year were different from years past. For the first time in the history of the new school, we had an outdoor pep con on our football field. The band, Red Feathers and, of course, the cheerleaders performed.

The cheerleaders were in charge of planning the pep cons this year, and they asked a different member of the faculty to emcee each one. Mr. Armitage was at the mike for the outdoor con, while Mrs. Crowe and Mr. Cobb were among those leading the cons in the gym during football season.

Another change this year was that all students were required to go to the cons, with studying in the cafeteria no longer an option for students. As a result, the cons seemed louder and more enthusiastic.

The varsity cheerleaders were very busy this past year. Last summer they all attended a cheerleading camp in Ellensburg for one week and practiced at school everyday. Over the summer they also had car washes, which made at least one hundred dollars a piece.

During the school year the cheerleaders were asked to decorate the Safeway store on Northwest Boulevard for Safeway's homecoming promotion. They were also asked to do a commercial for the KXLY-TV newscast.

Adviser Mrs. Nancy Russell was very proud to say, "The girls kept smiling, remained enthusiastic and generated spirit whether we were winning or losing, and that's the most important thing of all." The cheerleaders had a motto of their own: "Our team is #1, win or lose, we're having fun!" They did, in fact, work as a team of their own, and were a very successful one at that.

WARRIORS:

Lettered are bettered

The Warriors Club membership is open to all students who have won a letter in any varsity sport, as well as the varsity cheerleaders. This year the club's activities included sponsoring the Halloween Dance and sponsoring a pizza feed for all varsity letter winners.

In addition, the Warriors took special notice of some varsity teams with special activities. These included a pizza party for the gymnastics team and the wrestling team, and presenting flowers to the basketball team.

This year the Warriors' officers were Patty Perdue, president; Cindy Watson, vice-president; Pat Nevin, secretary; and Dan Frigaard, treasurer.

KEY CLUB: Futures keyed to serving

North Central's Key Club is the high school affiliate of the Kiwanis Club and like it is a service organization. Students are invited to become members when they demonstrate a commitment to community service. Some of this year's projects included the Muscular Dystrophy Super Dance, a Christmas party for youngsters suffering from Muscular Dystrophy, the Mothers' March on Polio, a community Christmas dinner and many other smaller projects.

The money-making project for the year was the annual carnation sale prior to Valentine's Day. The funds raised were used to attend the district convention in April.

Visitors were always welcome at the regular Thursday morning meetings.

CO-OP: Jobs ahead of our times.

CO-OP (Cooperative Office Occupations Program) is a business oriented class for seniors who are interested in business careers. Class activities include further developing office skills, such as typing, dictaphone, 10-key, telephone, filing, mailing, personality, attitude, and decision making. Other club activities include social exchanges with other CO-OP groups in District #81 and raising money for the annual Spring Employer-Employee Banquet.

Students work on the job in the afternoons and earn a credit each semester for class as well as on-the-job training. CO-OP is a "capstone" class which prepares students for entry-level employment in the working community.

DECA: Distributive Education Clubs of America prepare salespeople for the future

N.C.'s chapter of the Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) is a sales and marketing class. Competition tests with other clubs are held and club members travel to Seattle two or three times a year, with contest winners going to Kansas City for a week in May.

The club tries to have one social event per month, and speakers and field trips to area businesses were also on the calendar. Students are given training and help in finding jobs while they earn credits toward graduation.

This year the North Central High School Choral Program hosted the Spokane Jazz Festival. The guest artist was Bonnie Herman of the "Singers Unlimited." Twenty-four high schools from the state of Washington were invited.

The A Cappella Choir was invited to perform with 10 other selected choirs at the Wenatchee Choral Festival. Wenatchee High School Choir returned performed at N.C. in an exchange program in May. The Tee Pee Lighters were invited to Vancouver, British Columbia, to perform at the city's Jazz Festival.

Three choir members were selected for the All-State Choir. They were Debbie Carlson, Molly Nelson and Lisa VanBibber.

HONOR SOCIETY:

A mark of excellence

The National Honor Society is a group of extremely talented students who maintain grade point averages of 3.5 or above. Although it is an organization of mere title in some schools, the National Honor Society chapter at N.C. is a working group. They organized a mid-year program for students who need some help with their schoolwork. On certain days after school, students could come in to receive help with their schoolwork from some members of the National Honor Society. They also instituted a new program of "passing with flying colors" or "job well done" notices to combat the poor work notices traditionally sent out by teachers.

The officers this year were Tim Earnest, president; Craig Skillestad, vice-president; Rick Olson, secretary; and Derek Buckley, treasurer.

The Tamarack was assembled by four photographers, two artists and an editorial staff of 12. The staff first met in August to begin selling advertisements. The staff was hard at work from the first day of school, since Oct. 15 was the deadline for the theme and senior pictures sections. Then posters and a slide show had to be prepared for the Tamarack con early in November. Big deadlines at the end of December, January and February kept everyone busy through the winter. Finally, the last pages for this year's book were sent to the publisher April 1.

Our work was not finished, however, as the staff prepared a supplement to cover the spring events, while waiting for this year's books to arrive from the publisher. When they did, the traditional Tamarack breakfast was held and the staff members got their first look at the book. Then followed some late nights stamping names on the books to prepare for Tamarack Day.

The production of this book brought some happiness, some disappointment, some laughter, some anger, a lot of hard work, all mixed with a good dose of friendship. Our goal was to faithfully record the spirit of the 1983-84 school year at North Central High School. We hope the memories you have of these school days will be forever preserved for you within these pages.

A.S.B. has active year

North Central's A.S.B. has had a very active year. The year began with an A.S.B. mixer which was attended by almost 700 students. Next the A.S.B. held a pizza feed and rally prior to the Shadle football game. In the social service realm, N.C.'s A.S.B. held a very successful canned food drive (with over 2,200 cans collected), and bought 60 pointsettias for nursing homes in our area. Also the A.S.B. held its annual Christmas Dance, the "Snow Ball," in December.

Before Christmas vacation the A.S.B. sponsored a food drive that collected 2,212 cans and packages of food that were donated to the Spokane Food Bank.

Life's DRAMA has many scenes

The first play of the season was a new science fiction comedy spoof by David Mamet called, "The Revenge of the Space Pandas." This play was performed December 1-3.

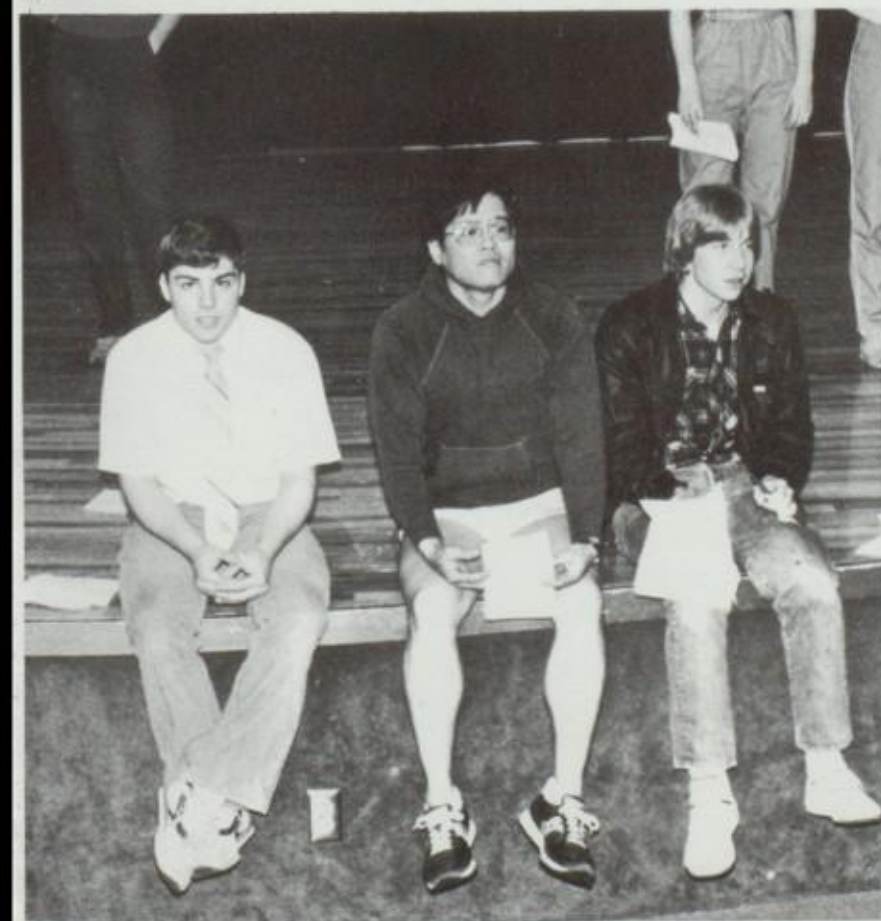

Binky Rudich, played by Gavin Flynn, was a 12-year-old scientist. He and his assistants, Bob the Sheep, played by Kim Yancey, and Vivian Mooster, played by Tammy Plank, invented a time machine which could zip them to exciting new planets. In this spine tingling adventure, they were spun off to the planet Crestview where they encountered an army of giant Space Pandas and leader George Topax, played by Paul Wareham.

During their adventure they encountered near death with a giant pumpkin, fights with the incredible Space Pandas, and finally, they fixed the time clock so that they could come back to Earth where all time had stood still while they were gone.

North Central Theatre Arts Students geared up in the spring for a very special production. They revived the old North Central Tradition: THE DOLL SHOP. It was a kind of variety show which started at N.C. in 1930. Directed by Elsa Pinkham, the biennial production appeared on the North Central stage 14 times through 1958. Miss Pinkham was the girls' P.E. teacher and believed that all boys and girls at North Central should learn how to dance. THE DOLL SHOP gave everyone a chance to show off his singing, acting and dancing talent.

Casts of the past included between two and four hundred actors, dancers, and singers. That included musicians in The Doll Shop Orchestra, stage crew and costumers. The story always took place in a doll shop and the play usually centered around the people who owned it. The dolls were all of the actors, dancers, and singers who would come magically alive to perform.

The 1984 DOLL SHOP was much the same, but with newer music arranged by Greg Wellsandt, N.C.'s current instrumental music director. Some of the old favorites from past Doll Shops were included along with a comedy sketch from the old Carol Burnett Show and an all-male Kazoo Band. A committee of students wrote the script along with faculty members Greg Wellsandt, Dennie Crowe, (who choreographed several production numbers) and Tom Armitage (the drama director). 180 students were in the cast. Several of them had parents, aunts and uncles, and grandparents who were in past Doll Shops.

DAD-DAUGHTER DELIGHT:

A night out with Dad

This year the Dad-Daughter Delight, held Nov. 22, was a little different than in past years. Instead of having cake for desert, the Red Feathers served sundaes. Another well-received change was that instead of a live band, records and music were provided by a group from Spokane Falls Community College.

Members of the dance committee were Ann Sutton, decorations; Janice Balzer, publicity; Janet Riker, pictures; Debbie Whitcraft, music; Heidi Fanslow, refreshments; Geri Swagel, tickets; and Monique Plante, coat-check.

Thanks to the Red Feathers and the committee, all the fathers and daughters seemed to have a "Delightful" evening.

BROWN BAG CAREER PROGRAM: Career planning is not out to lunch

The Brown Bag Career Program was initiated at North Central during the 1982-83 school year by Counselor Don Walter. During that year over 400 students brought their sack lunches to the career center each Wednesday to hear speakers on various career fields. This year, after doing a survey of student interests, Mr. Walter lined up speakers in the fields of secretarial work, modeling, law enforcement, flight attendance, nursing, medicine, cosmetology and engineering.

According to Mr. Walter, students do not normally get enough information about career opportunities in the classroom. The Brown Bag Career Program gives them a chance to hear from a person who has first-hand experience in a career the student might be interested in.

To improve the program next year Mr. Walter plans to send personalized, computerized invitations to students, as well as advertise the program more to bring it to the attention of more students.

JUNIOR STATESMEN: Participating in political progress

The Junior Statesmen of America (J.S.A.) is a student-run, nonpartisan, nonprofit organization which has encouraged political awareness and involvement among high school students for fifty years. Over 100 schools sponsor Junior Statesmen Chapters as an extracurricular activity for students interested in politics and government.

The J.S.A. students at North Central this year had the opportunity to attend a conference held at the Davenport Hotel Feb. 11. This conference had several speakers on many current debate issues.

Students have the opportunity to get involved in convention leadership position. For each candidate in the upcoming 1984 presidential election, a campaign committee of students will be chosen for the complex task of carrying out a successful convention campaign.

All the world is a stage for MASQUE

North Central's Drama Club took on both a new and an old name this year — Masque. That was the name of the school's drama club in the very early years of the school, and this year's thespians decided to reclaim the name for tradition's sake.

Since the move to the new building, the Masque has grown in size. It now numbers over 60 and is still growing. Every time a show is produced, the membership climbs. The club is not just for actors and actresses. It includes people with a variety of other specialties. It has dancers, singers and "techies" (stage crew). There is something for everyone in the N.C. Masque.

One of the most important benefits of being in the Masque is the encouragement it gives to members to express themselves in a variety of ways. It gives many people a chance to breakout of their shells, and, through the shows, many new friends are made. At times even romance can be seen blooming backstage. One of Mr. Armitage's favorite quotations sums up much of what Masque is all about. "The best thing you can do is get very good at being you!"

STAGE CREW: Putting it all together

Stage Crew is more important than people realize. They build sets, run lights, setup props, take charge of sound equipment, and everything else to do with the theater.

School activities, such as plays, recitals, concerts, and dances, play a very important part in a stage crew member's life.

Outside groups rent our facilities and hire the stage crew members for their services. Stage Crew works approximately 200 events per year.

SAFTYE CLUB: Driving safely for life

The N.C. SAFTYE (Stop Auto Fatalities Through Youth Efforts) Club is made up of students and adults between the ages of 15 and 24, who are promoting highway safety. The club's goal is to encourage the average driver between the ages of 16 and 25 to actively promote traffic safety through a recognized student association. The club is supported by the governor and the Washington Traffic Safety Commission, and it is endorsed by the superintendent of public instruction and the Washington Traffic and Safety Education Association.

MASCOTS: Spirit in leather and feather

As the official mascots of North Central, Kim North and Gavin Flynn were present at quite a few activities during the year. Their first appearances of the year came at the varsity football games in the fall. They also attended the boys' and girls' varsity basketball games and some of the wrestling matches. Their final appearance was in the Lilac Parade in the spring.

"Being the mascot for North Central doesn't only mean showing up at games and cheering," explained Gavin. "It means setting an example for others by our attitude during school, at home, and anywhere we happen to be. We don't stop being mascots after a game."

The two mascot costumes were presented to North Central in the fall of 1982 by the North Central Alumni Association. The outfits are authentic Spokane Indian tribal regalia, and were handmade by elders of the tribe at a cost of about $5,000.

The North Central News has been running hot and cold over the past couple of years. The problem has been that there has been almost no carryover of staff members from one year to the next. This year the N.C. News did not appear until the second semester, but after the new staff was trained, the newspaper was back in full swing.

With the encouragement of Adviser Sarann Graham, the N.C. News returned to the quality publication it had been known for over the years. Most readers of the paper do not realize how much work the production of the paper takes. Coming up with articles of interest, being on top of what is going on at N.C., and, of course, meeting deadlines require a great deal of time and dedication from staff members.

The goal of the N.C. News was to report news, address the pertinent issues of school life, and faithfully record the passing of the 1984 school year.

... FULL OF SPIRIT

The Class of '84

"Being a senior at N.C. means . . ."

"You are now the 'Big Cheeze.' You are looked upon as a role model and leader of North Central's student body. Underclassmen look to you as an idol while they wait in anticipation for their chance to be the 'best'."

Shelee Guidice

"A transformation happens to juniors when their graduating year comes about. Over the summer their cranial cavity expands to allow room for a larger brain. Their energy is greatly heightened."

Eric Alcorn

"The end to my high school days is drawing near. College is fast approaching and with it come a huge array of new challenges to meet and obstacles to overcome."

Michele Andrews

"Getting ready to start our lives on our own and to face the challenges that lie ahead."

Cheri Folks

"You are finally able to be king of the mountain after being at the bottom of the hill for three years! Only to be at the bottom again next year!"

Gina Gallant

"You've finally reached the end, only to find out that now is when you really have to work."

Surely February will always be remembered by Michaelyn Pelkie as one of the highlights of her time at N.C. She was crowned North Central's Lilac Princess out of a field of ten very worthy finalists. The competition began with an introduction of the candidates and their escorts. After a short intermission, the program continued with each candidate giving a three-minute prepared speech and concluded with impromptu questions presided over by Master of Ceremonies Steve Selvig. The entertainment for the evening was provided by Sean and Tammy Nanto.

The Final Goodbye

Goodbye to our classmates
Our teachers and friends.
The time has flown
And the years have past.
The time has come.
It's here at last.
It's time to face
What lies ahead
And to fit the pace,
As so many have said.
So let us not cry.
As it is time
For the last goodbye.

Officers prepare seniors for flashy finale

The senior class officers kept themselves busy through the year. They were in charge of organizing fund-raising events in preparation for the Senior Prom and Senior Breakfast. The Class of '84 also sponsored the Homecoming Dance and the spring mixer to add to the money earned by the class over the previous three years.

The prom was held June 2 in the Marie Antoinette Room at the Davenport Hotel. The breakfast was planned for June 7 at The Inn at the Park.

FOOTBALL:

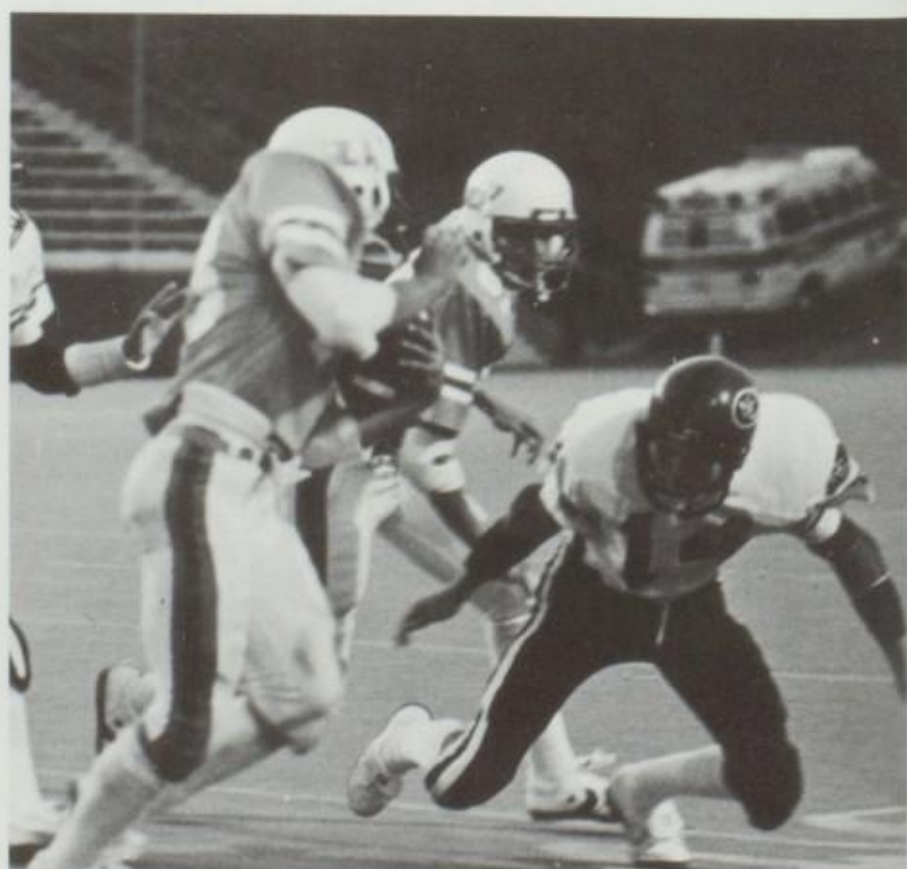

Forfeits and final victory highlight braves' season

The final record of this year's Varsity Football Team was clouded by a couple of forfeit rulings. On the field the team won three games and lost six. However, N.C. was judged to have held an illegal practice last spring, which resulted in adding a loss and taking away a win from the final record. In addition, Richland was forced to forfeit their game with N.C. for illegally using video tapes to prepare for the game.

The victories this year came over Lewis and Clark and Rogers. The highlight of the year, however, came in the final game when the Indians came back from a 20-7 deficit to defeat the Titans 21-20.

Four N.C. players made the All City Team. Wide receiver Rick Olson found a spot on the first team. Running back Bobby Hixon and punter Craig Skillestad were chosen for the second team, and Darin Hughes was named Honorable Mention.

VOLLEYBALL:

Mistakes of inexperience show in team's record

This year, the Varsity Volleyball Team suffered from inexperience. At times, up to four sophomores started. With seven wins and nine losses, the team finished their season tied for fifth place in the G.S.L.

The team named Patty Perdue as Most Inspirational, Theresa Alexander to be the Most Improved, and Barb Frigaard the Most Valuable Player. Barb also made it on the first-team All-City Team for the second year in a row.

SOCCER:

A new G.S.L. sport kicks off

This year was the first for girls' soccer as a Greater Spokane League sport. N.C. finished the season in fourth place with a four-win, five-loss, and one-tie record.

Junior Elaina Bohlman was the team's Most Valuable Player. The leading scorer and Most Inspirational Player was freshman Cheryl Belling. Carla Schauble was the team Captain and sophomore Debbie Carlson was named Most Improved.

BOYS' CROSS COUNTRY:

The power of the patch and the beauty of the black

The Boys' Cross Country Teams had a successful year overall. Varsity finished the season with a three-win, five-loss record. The J.V. had an impressive season ending it with six-wins, and two-losses. The freshmen were very dominant this year, ruling their league with only one loss.

Coach Len Long says the team's potential is fantastic. For the third year in a row the boys' and girls' teams won the combined first place trophy at the Sun Fair Invitational held in Yakima.

GIRLS' CROSS COUNTRY:

Races to state once again

The Girls' Cross Country Team had an outstanding season with a seven-win, one-loss record. At the district meet they placed second, nosing out L.C. for the second team spot at the state meet, which was held at Hangman Valley Golf Course this year. There the Indians placed sixth.

Coach Dean Rieken emphasized their powerful running style, and is glad most of the team will be back next year. "We had an extremely successful season and we're very proud of how these girls competed," he said.

During the fall season the Boys' Tennis Team finished with a record of five wins and two losses, good for third place in the Greater Spokane League. For the first time in over a decade, the team prevailed over Ferris. The other victories came against Gonzaga Prep, C.V., Rogers, and U-High. This was the first full season played on our new courts after three years of playing home matches at Mission Park.

"The key to our success this year was depth," explained coach Al Hanson. "We didn't have any strong players that carried the team. Rather, we had very capable players throughout our line-up, and during each match, somebody new would come through to win the key match. Although tennis is usually thought of as an individual sport, the reason for our success this year was teamwork."

This year's girls' tennis team was much improved, winning three matches and losing four in the fall. Senior Gina Gallant was the team's leading player again this year. She lost only two league matches in the fall season and reached the semi-finals in the Greater Spokane Tennis Tournament. Also reaching the semi-finals was junior Kim Aden.

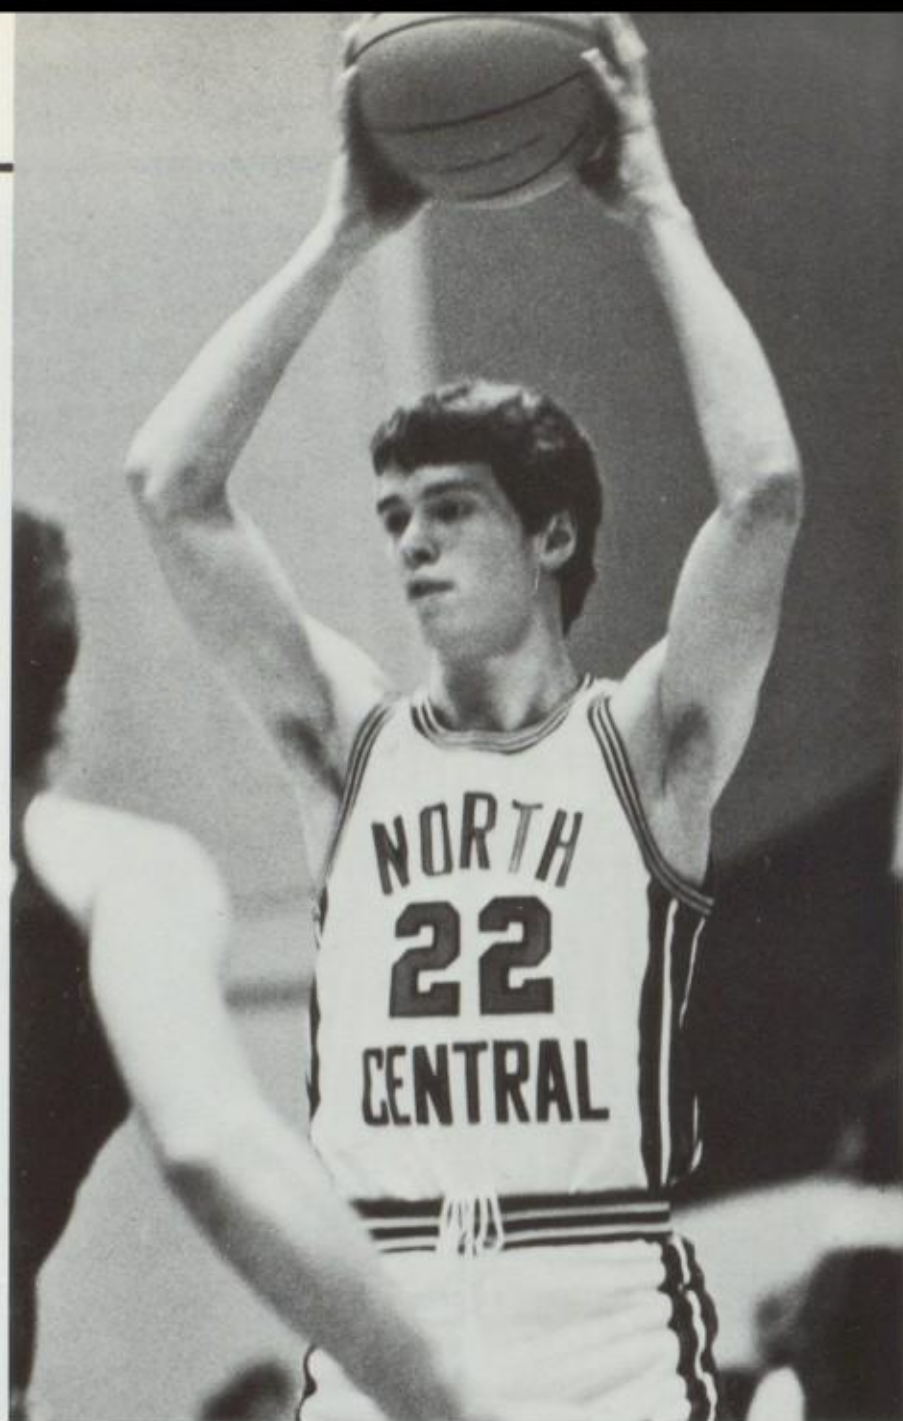

The team was coached again this year by Anita Manuel. This was the first time in seven years the girls' team has had the same coach two years in a row. "I think they've grown a lot since I've been here," said Coach Manuel. "We got new skirts and sweats. They're looking pretty good now."

BOYS' BASKETBALL:

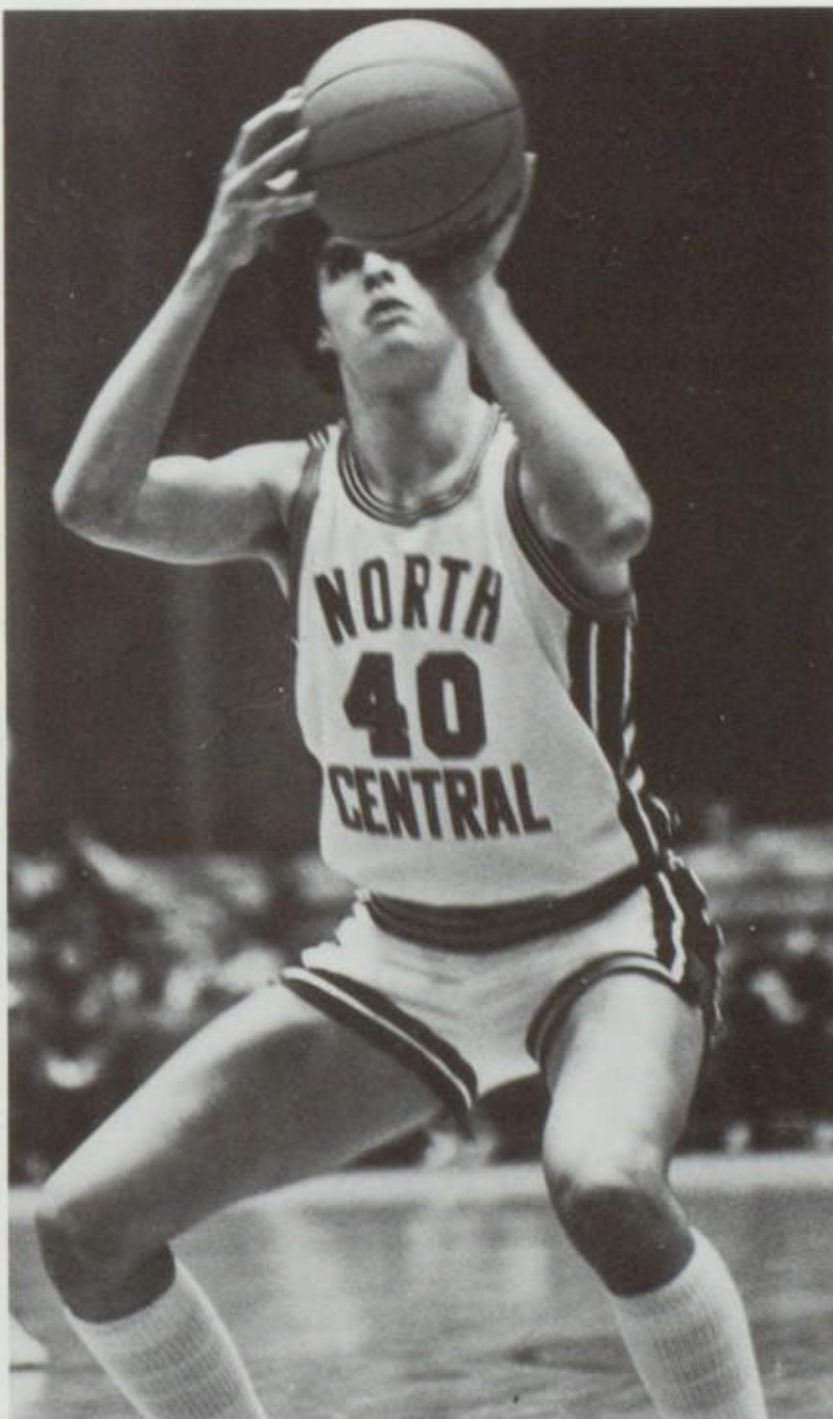

New coach brings a new attitude to N.C.'s team

"One of the nicest things about the season is we've gained a lot of respect around the league," said new coach Ron Donovan.

The season concluded with a three-win, thirteen-loss league record. According to Coach Donovan, senior Rick Olson displayed his ability as most outstanding player. Most improved was sophomore Chris Watson. The only other senior Craig Skillestad, was the team's captain.

Although other GSL teams outscored N.C., coach Donovan explained, "We made tremendous improvement . . . to where we became one of the better defensive teams in the league."

GIRLS' BASKETBALL: Novice team suffers in state's best league

Out of the top ten teams in Washington last year, four of them came from the Greater Spokane League. The N.C. Girls' Basketball Team did not do well competing in what was considered the state's best league again this year.

Although they had one win over East Valley, the team lacked height and experience. New Coach Jay Duncan said, "It takes courage to keep competing when things get bad."

The most outstanding player was junior Elaina Bohlman, and sophomore Laura Albrecht was most improved, according to Coach Duncan. "We tried to create a winning attitude," he concluded.

WRESTLING: Team is pinned down by frequent forfeits.

"N.C. Wrestling would be much more effective if those athletes walking the halls would participate," asserted Coach Manny Brown. The team's league record was one win and seven losses. One of the big problems was not having enough wrestlers of certain weights. At times up to eighteen points had to be given up due to forfeits.

Adam Kiourkas was the outstanding wrestler, placing first in districts, third in regionals and going on to state. The most improved wrestler was Mike Rosdahl, who started as a sophomore, but was not a winning wrestler until his senior year.

Next year the team should be fairly young with nine juniors and only one returning senior. Speculating on what it takes to be a wrestler, Coach Brown said, "Our athletes are not just wrestlers. They must participate in a sport all year round to be effective in their main sport."

The gymnastics team this year was the most successful winter sports team N.C. has had in several years. The N.C. girls were undefeated in taking the G.S.L. championship.

"Indian Pride" was at its peak in the match against the Mead Panthers. Mead had won twenty-six meets in a row over a period of three years. Our gymnasts were behind four-tenths of a point after the bars and vault, but then got back five-tenths of a point on beam and floor. In recognition of this victory, the Indians were voted the Inland Empire Sports Writers and Broadcasters Association Team of the Week.

In the district meet held at North Central, four Indians earned their way to the state meet. They were Aimee and Stephanie Schager, Mindy Pelkie and Holli McBride.

Next year also appears promising for N.C. gymnastics. All but senior Sue Kosanke should return. Coach Stacy Ward summed up the season when she said, "We're proud to be N.C.'s first undefeated gymnastics team. It was a great season."

The Varsity Baseball Team faced a tough season this year. The schedule showed no compassion as all teams were highly competitive. Returning to meet the challenge were senior lettermen Craig Skillestad, Bill Kruiswyk, Randy Bareithe, Rich James, Steve D'Aboy, and the junior lettermen Sean Smith and Jeff Miller. The sophomore that made the varsity team this year was John Cain. The team rode the strong right arms of pitchers Sean Smith and Rich James, both experienced in G.S.L. action.

This was Coach Ken Eilmes' ninth year of coaching, with a 69% winning record over that time. We have the nucleus of a great team," claimed Coach Eilmes. "N.C. has always been strong. I hope we can keep up the tradition."

Indian hopes ride on young but strong shoulders.

An early season win over Shadle Park gave a young N.C. Softball Team a good start in the tough Greater Spokane League. The strenght of the team was in the defense played by young but experienced players. In his second year at the helm Coach Weir cautioned, "We're awfully young."

The outstanding players, according to Coach Weir, were senior Patty Perdue and junior Elaina Bohiman. Of Patty, he said, "She's a spark plug for us, a real competitor." The schedule worked in N.C.'s favor with the tough teams on tap early.

In his tenth consecutive year of coaching, Joe Schauble has turned out some very talented athletes and this year was no exception.

According to Coach Schauble outstanding runners were seniors Rick Olson, Julie Clymens and Jason Henning, with many following close behind. Assistant Coach Ron Walker analyzed the team as having a "handful of outstanding seniors and excellent youth."

Competition in the league was a little tougher this year, but N.C. hung in there. Coach Schauble noted the Indians' traditional weakness. "We don't have enough depth in the events." Looking toward the future, underclassmen should give N.C. more strength if they stay on.

This past season the North Central Boys' Golf Team was fortunate to have five returning lettermen. They were Tim Waggoner, Steve Caruso, Mike Longie, Kerry Brundage, and Dan Frigaard. Steve and Tim were judged to have been the most outstanding players by Coach Ralph Montroy, who also singled out freshman Pete Caruso as the most promising young player.

The league this year was tougher than in the past, with Gonzaga Prep, Shadle Park, and Central Valley fielding strong teams. A good test of N.C.'s strength came at a two-day tournament in Yakima April 2-3. Competing were the top N.C. players, as well as many other G.S.L. and Columbia Basin teams.

The returning girls this year were Sherri Waggoner, Jennifer Burke, Lori Albrecht, Darlene Van Luven, and Nancy Durand. A newcomer for the girls this year was Kristie Carlon.

Last year Sherri Waggoner won fifth place in a girls invitational meet, and this year she, along with the rest of the team, competed in the All-City Tournament.

Through petitions and debate, soccer became a G.S.L. sport this year. Although it's new to the G.S.L., many of the team members have played in other leagues in Spokane.

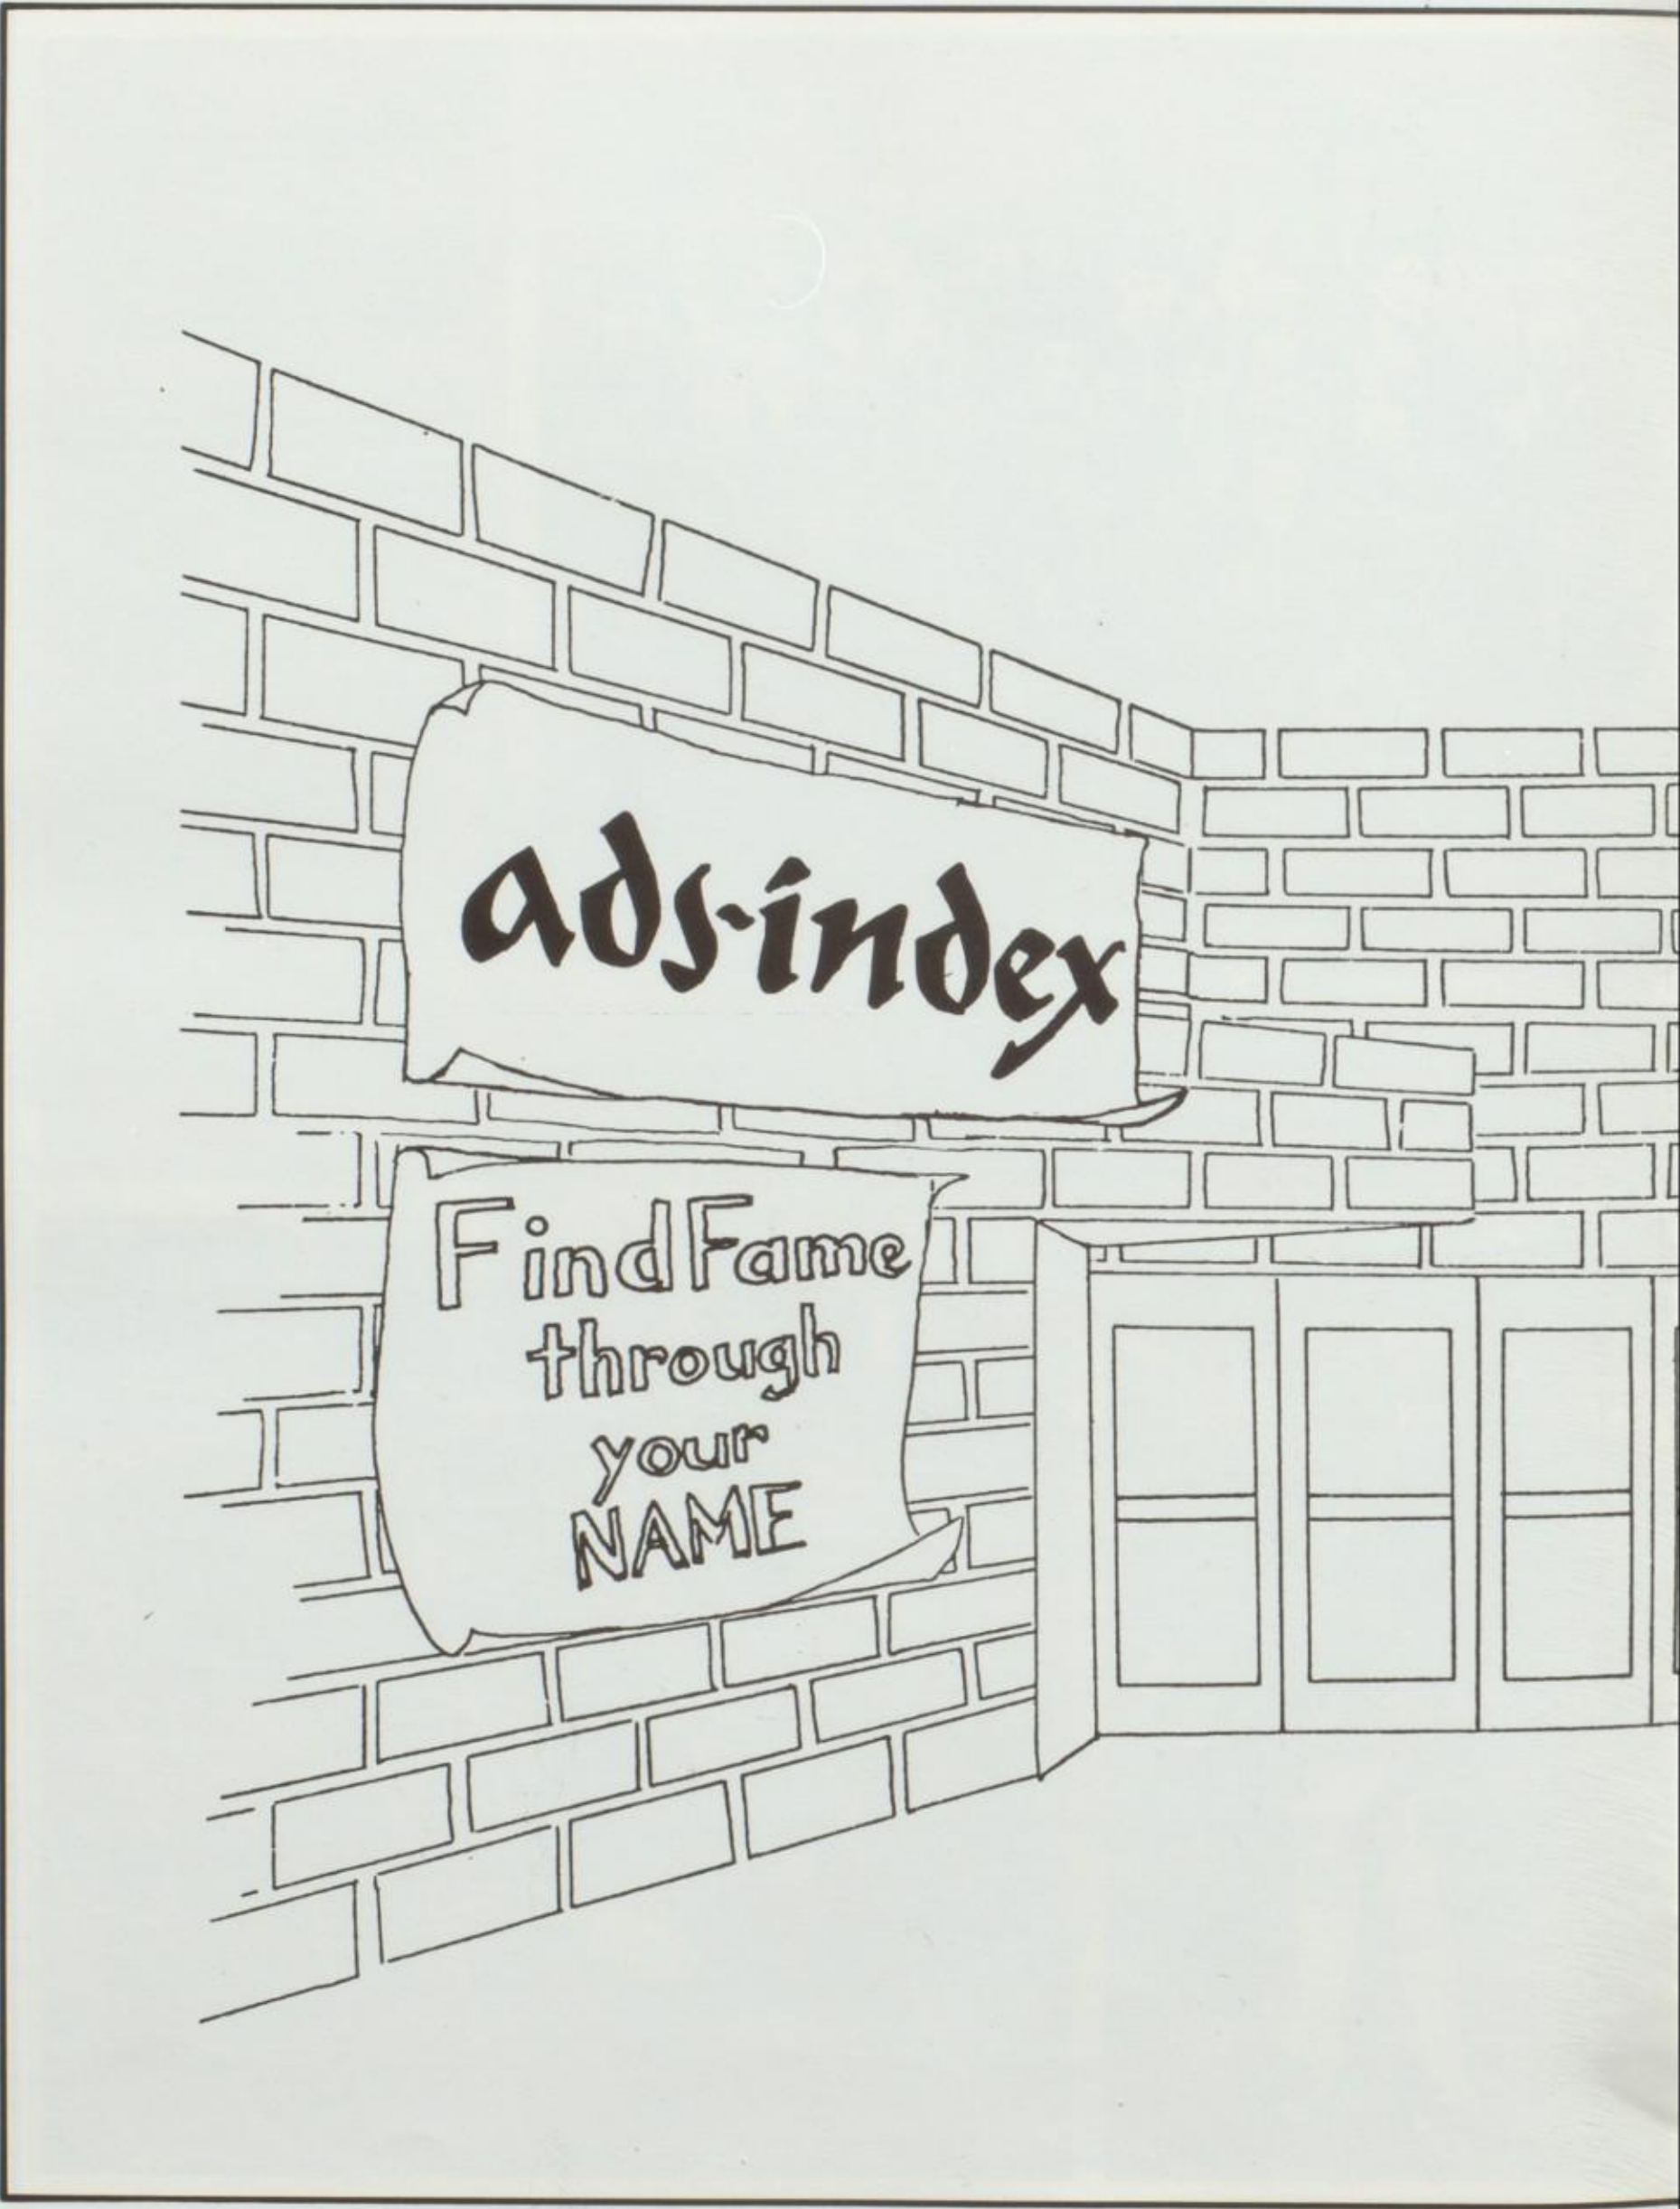

According to Coach David Larson, the leading players were Wade Shane, Steve Longoria, Mike Schermerhorn and Kevin Dayot.

The first round of games did not count in the league standings. Having coached soccer since 1976, Coach Larson encouraged N.C. to aim toward "a product on the field that is a lot more competitive compared to the rest of the league."
